Coats for Fall: Bench. from PROJECT Las Vegas

Started in the late 80s, Bench. continues to draw from the subcultures of skate boarders, BMX bikers along with the music industry and its influencers for inspiration. The result? Outer and loungewear with smart street appeal and sporty sensibilities. These are the kinds of oversized hoodies and fair-isle sweaters that you buy your boyfriend just so you can wear it.

Finally the popular Manchester, UK brand Bench. is moving across the Atlantic and will be available stateside this fall/winter season. I'm personally excited to see this brand available in the US as Bench. has constructed some overcoats that are appropriately fitted but best of all, seriously lined to keep you nice and toasty. Bench. will retail for $25 for t-shirts with outerwear around $200.
